

TrentonSpeaksNow.com

© 2007 L. Trenton Marsh

Introspective Leadership: Five Stages To Know Who You Are...So You Can Know How to Lead

Please use the space below to fill in the blank and write notes about the stages

Stage 1: Definition of _____

Stage 2: Be a _____ Thinker - _____ Your Goals

Stage 3: Get up, _____, Do _____...

Stage 4: Trust _____: Press In!

Stage 5: Continue to _____

TrentonSpeaksNow.com

© 2007 L. Trenton Marsh

Brief Bio:

L. Trenton Marsh is an avid public speaker on education, specifically academic excellence. He speaks on topics such as College Strategy & Academics; Successful Resumes; Introspective Leadership; Business Planning 101; and College Transitioning. Marsh graduated from American University with Honors with a BSBA degree double-majoring in Marketing and Enterprise Management. He pursued his Masters degree in Education with a concentration of Human Resource Development at George Washington University (GW). In May of 2004, Marsh made history at GW when he became the First African American Male Student Commencement Speaker.

Marsh's lifestyle and community involvement has garnered the attention of many notable entities including: The MTV network, ESSENCE Magazine, and the CNN Network. He has conducted empowerment sessions for the United States Job Corps, NAACP, NFL's Cleveland Brown Wide Receiver Braylon Edwards Foundation, Hispanic Association of Colleges & Universities, College & Career Connections, Jack & Jill of America, Inc., and many others.

Currently working as a Senior Business Consultant with IBM Corporation, Marsh has a history of delivering expected results and attaining a high level of client satisfaction. He is enrolled in Lead@IBM a program designed for promising leaders. Outside of his corporate career, Marsh also owns a personal company that he began at age 24 that assists non-profit organizations to understand the "start-up" process through business plan writing workshops and application assistance. Marsh attributes all his success in life to his parents, pastors, his faith in God, and his full obedience in serving Him.